Recognising and Protecting Indigenous Knowledge Associated with Natural Resource Management

Working Party Meeting & Expressions of Interest

We are pleased to announce that the first Working Party Meeting addressing the development of a model for recognition and protection of Indigenous knowledge associated with natural resource management will take place at the UTS Faculty of Law Haymarket Sydney in the Law Boardroom from 12:30pm on Tuesday 13 May 2014. Lunch will be provided.

The second Working Party Meeting will build on the outcomes of the first meeting and be held on Thursday 22 May. Depending on the outcome of 13 May we may start a little earlier on 22 May at 11 am. Participants will be notified in due course.

Research material to be used at the Working Party will be provided on the IKF website. We will take everyone through that material in the first Working Party Meeting and establish the agreed issues to be included in the model to be drafted.

Expressions of interest to participate in the Working Party are now open. Please send your expression of interest to Dr Ann Cahill by email on ann2@bigpond.com.
